STOCKLAND ANNOUNCES NEW CHIEF INNOVATION, MARKETING AND TECHNOLOGY OFFICER

Stockland today announced that Sharmila Tsourdalakis will be joining Stockland in the role of Chief Innovation, Marketing and Technology Officer (CIMTO).

Stockland Managing Director and CEO Mark Steinert said: "I'm delighted to welcome Sharmila to Stockland, leading our Innovation, Marketing, Technology and Customer teams as a member of our Executive Committee.

"Sharmila brings over 20 years' experience working in senior roles in technology, innovation, customer and digital transformation for ASX-listed companies, including Suncorp, GPT and Leighton Contractors.

"Sharmila has led a number of large scale digital and customer-centric transformations, including the implementation and optimisation of complex technology platforms, aligning with Stockland's focus on upgrading our systems to increase customer service, business efficiency and embrace digital opportunities."

Mr Steinert said: "Investing in technology, innovation, customer experience and data capability is an important priority for Stockland, as we position our business for the future, turning disruption into business opportunities and driving additional income streams.

"We are excited that Sharmila is joining Stockland, bringing a combination of strong real estate sector experience, shared values and passion for technology, customer focus and innovation."

Sharmila will join Stockland on 27 April 2020.
